LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

We desire to procure the services of a local agent in every Postoffice District in the State. Your friends can act, or procure the services of some efficient person in our behalf? Believing that the circulation of the Democrat may be materially extended, we make the appeal to our friends in this behalf.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE THE Hon. NAT. WOLFE AS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT AT THE ENSUING AUGUST ELECTION.

"Great crises produce great men," it is said, and it has been true heretofore in the world's history. This is a great crisis in the United States, but the great men have not made their appearance yet. Perhaps, after all, it is the great man that makes the great crisis, and that history will not call the present crisis anything great. It may be set down as a mere struggle of mediocrities to accomplish something quite above their capacities.

A small school of small demagogues made this rebellion. They were great only in evil. Up to this time they have illustrated the power of small men to pull down what great men have built up. This exploit second-rate may accomplish.

Then, on the other side, the Government at Washington has shown even less capacity than the rebels. This is evidently a day of small things, with no great intellect that can push the paltry societies out of the way.

A war suggests that we are all great in this age, and that is what's the matter; that if our fathers lived now they would be but ordinary men, owing to the great progress their children have made. We are all too great for any one man to be great enough to control our destiny. An uncontrollable theory that, If we have all become great, so that none is greater than the rest, and we are all bent on mischief, it would be better for us to fall back in order to a lower status.

De Tocqueville noticed a difficulty which he supposed might occur in a democratic government. It might get into a war, but who would make peace? This difficulty looks up now. We need not appeal to the people South, for they are under a de facto power and can't act. The people North have an Administration in whose hands the war is, and it will not act. No compromise with rebels. No compromise with Abolitionists. There it is. One party can't crush out the other, when there is to be an end to war?

The people of both sections are under the rule of small men—poor mediocrities. The task of adjustment is too great for their capacity. The crisis has not produced the men. We have heard a great deal of measures, not men—a remark always silly, and especially so now. Give us the men just now, and they will take care of the measures.

As for McClellan, no one knows the President supposes that he will ever be called upon to fill the position, but he will probably be master of the service before long, and his commission as Major General in the regular army given to General Grant, the fighting General of whom the President has said little.

I have had strong influences brought against Grant, praying for his removal, since the battle of Pittsburg Landing, to any other object, coming, too, from good men; and now look at his campaign since May 1. What does this amount to in the Old World that equals it? It stamps him as the greatest General of the age, if not of the world!

[Change.]

Won't the President tell us who those were who endeavored to have Grant removed? Were they Democrats, or were they not? Legions of the most approved style! Some of the vigorous prosecution-of-the-war patriots who vigorously stay at home and slander the Generals in the field. This correspondent tells us that McClellan is to be promoted out of the service and Grant to be put in his place. We have no fault to find with them in this. We hope that McClellan and all the Generals not in active service will either resign or be dismissed. It can be no injury to them or their reputation, as the character of the Administration is too well known.

A great canal convention has been held recently in Chicago, proposing to connect the waters of the lakes with the Atlantic and the Mississippi. This scheme has often been spoken of and an effort was made in the last Congress to have a bill providing for it, but that body too busy worrying about Samoa to take much interest in Uncle Sam. We have felt the necessity for some better mode of transportation to the world's market, especially since the war, in blocking up the Mississippi, has stopped our chief outlet. The canal proposed will be of sufficient size to pass our very largest steamers and gun-boats.

While the object of this meeting was, as we have said, very excellent, yet they could not attend strictly to their business, but had to fly off into some political harangue. Nothing will ever be accomplished by such men, but we hope much will be done by others.

To see, we don't see the constitutional right of the Federal Government to engage in such work—much less can the policy of it be defended; but, nevertheless, the work would pay, and it business men and capitalists would engage in it, the work would not be of great value to the country, but to its authors.

The editor of the Journal has a troublerome time with his party. He now fails out with a whole convention of them and repudiates it and its nominee. We expected the Louisville Journal, instead of getting off the train decently, would tumble off like a licker before it got far. The Journal says these men that composed that convention in the Covington district are not Union men. They are Republicans.

Don't the Republican papers up in that region recognize the Journal's party as true blue? Certainly they do. And Mr. Benton & Co. are amongst its leaders. They were here at the State Convention, gave tone to its proceedings, and they are, in fact, the pioneers of the Journal's party.

The object is to make the Journal's party the Republicans for next year's work, and they will succeed. The Louisville Journal has not made sufficient progress yet; but it is improving, the Republicans say; and if it improve as it has done for the past two years, it will be showing for some Republicans, under the name of Union, for President.

We publish this morning a detailed account of the attack on Vicksburg on the 22d ult., which seems to be written with a good deal of candor. The writer thinks each division disposed to exaggerate its losses, and puts them down at 2,500. We cannot resist the conclusion that our officers underrated the strength of the position, for the attack was entirely futile. Vicksburg will not be taken by storm; but if Grant is sufficiently reinforced, we don't see how he can fail to take it by siege. Therein, however, is the difficulty involved. This is fortunate for some Republican journals that discovered, as soon as his removal was announced, that he never was fit to command.

The Seventh Kentucky Infantry at Vicksburg.

Colonel James H. Garrard, of Frankfort, has received a letter from his brother, General Theophilus T. Garrard, at Vicksburg, from which we are enabled to give a list of casualties in his old regiment, the Seventh Kentucky. It was one of the first regiments enlisted in this State, has seen much hard service, and in every action and skirmish has vindicated the valor of the mountain population. The regiment has been greatly reduced by hard service, and the long list of casualties which we give below attest not only the severity of the conflict, but the desperate daring and bravery of the men. This list can be relied upon:

List of Killed, Wounded and Missing of the Seventh Kentucky Regiment at the Battle of Champion Hills, May 16th, 1863:

Gen. Neale has been playing at Fuller's Theater to very good audiences. Mr. Macauley had a benefit Friday night, which was well attended.

The Polymorphosis of the War at Masonic Temple did very well. It is a good painting.

Louie Hough is playing in Nashville. The "Seven Sisters" is having a run.

Maggie Mitchell is playing "Fanchon" in St. Louis, drawing large houses.

Miss Ette Henderson, who recently returned from Europe, will open with Mr. Steele, at the Standard Atheneum, Boston, on the 6th of July, in her new creation drama of the "Flower Girl."

Miss Charlotte Thompson having closed her labors for the season, is at present in New York. She will soon leave for her summer residence in the interior of that State, where she will find a home. She will not play again until August.

The Defiance Theater, at Cairo Illinois, has been doing a very good business of late, the pieces being of the sensation order. On the 18th ult., the "French Spy" was produced, with Miss McWilliams, the leading parts.

George H. Mills' comedy of "Senior Valente, or Rose of Lima," was given, for the first time, at the Standard Atheneum, Boston, on the 6th of July, in her new creation drama of the "Flower Girl."

Miss Charlotte Thompson having closed her labors for the season, is at present in New York. She will soon leave for her summer residence in the interior of that State, where she will find a home. She will not play again until August.

The Pine and Harrison Opera Troupe opened the Royal, Liverpool, April 2nd, with Wallace's opera of "Lurline." Miss Finsbury played the Queen of the English in the title role. Mrs. Emily Cook continues a member of the company.

E. A. Sothern made his first appearance at the Prince of Wales Opera House, Birmingham, England, on the 4th ult., in his imitative representation of Lord Dundreary. Miss Mary Sandlin, 2d lieutenant, company F, was also present.

John Anderson, private, company B, missing.

CITY NEWS.

Colonel Marc Mundy, Commandant of this Post, has rooms at the Louisville Hotel, where strangers going South, arriving after office hours, and entitled to passes, may obtain them at seven o'clock A. M., in time to take the morning trains. No passes, however, will be given by the Commandant of the Post at his hotel to others than those arriving after office hours.

Attention.

Several thousand soldiers will be in the city to-day and to-morrow. They are on a mission having for its object the best interests of every one in this city. It then behoves every loyal man, woman, and child to strain every nerve for the comfort of the brave defenders while with us. Citizens are therefore earnestly desired to send to the Soldiers' Home, corner of Tenth and Broadway, to-day and to-morrow, all the provisions they can possibly send. Let no one neglect his part of this duty.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Saturday, June 6.—Court martial pursuant to an adjournment. All present seemed to be in a good humor, with a few exceptions, and they, no doubt, slept out from home and left the gate open; cows entered, and no doubt took them for herbage on the face of terra. The dock presented a gloomy appearance, comparatively speaking. Three large hulks lay in view, and by the wan light, one seemed to be painted black, seemingly on the piratical order—rather on the order of the African slave trade, he being charged with capturing Andrew Graham's negro girl and conveying her to ports unknown to this community; and as this vessel drawethigh, we discover by the figure-head that he name is Tom Reighley. Continued until Monday.

The next vessel, near the former, was a Dutch rigged craft by the name of Joseph Dunning, rather on the order of a nautical character, but "booty" seems to be his watchword. When captured he had $90 of a merchantman's money. This occurrence took place in our waters, between Fifth and Sixth streets. He was released on this charge, but was presented as a suspected felon and held to bail in $200 for six months.

Another vessel, of less dimensions than the former, was captured last night by the officers of the crew of our craft. He is of Irish build, halls from Cork, and is of a redskin color. He hailed another Irish-built frigate and took therefrom $83 in Government funds. We learn that his name is Daniel Bradley. "The powers that be" tried him this morning, and held him in $300 to answer in a higher court. Thereupon the Marshal took charge of him; but he was subsequently bailed. Several warrants and ordinances were dispensed of.

A man calling himself Lores Hassam, and claiming to be a first Lieutenant in the 32 New York cavalry, was arrested at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, by order of Gen. Rosecrans. The General thinking him an impostor or deserter. He had with him forged papers, representing that he was detailed as a detective for the Government by Gen. Foster, commanding at Newbern, North Carolina. He was tried and ordered to be taken to Cincinnati, Ohio, to Gen. Burnside, to be sent to the Governor of New York. Lieut. Hunt, of the Fourth Tennessee, passed through this city on the 4th inst., with Hassam in charge, and left on the mid-night that day. That evening, while in conversation with Lieut. Hunt concerning his arrest, Hassam remarked that he "did not care a d—n, he would not live very long any how." In a few moments after, he deliberately walked toward the stern of the boat and jumped overboard and drowned himself. The body has not been recovered. Lieut. Hunt thinks Hassam was dead.

RONBERY.—On Friday night, about 10 o'clock, two soldiers called at the house of a toll gate keeper, named Michael Hinch, on the Workhouse road, and said that they were in search of Government pistols. Mr. Hinch, suspecting that they had come to rob him, told them so, when his wife took what money they had from a drawer, and Mr. Hinch put a watch in his pocket, when the soldiers presented pistols and threatened to kill both, if the money and watch were not delivered, when they were delivered without resistance. Besides the watch they got twenty-three dollars in green-backs and postal currency.

We trust that the military authorities will spare no pains in having the scoundrels brought to justice.

UNFORTUNATE AFFRAY.—An alteration occurred last evening, about half past six o'clock, on the corner of Jackson and Jefferson streets, between Mr. Sim. Webb, ex-constable, and Mr. Peter Pfeiffer, a stonemason, both of whom are well known in the city. During the difficulty, Pfeiffer was shot in the side, receiving a severe, and probably fatal wound. Both are men of family. Webb was taken in custody, and the affair will, no doubt, have an investigation before His Honor, Judge Johnston, to-morrow morning.

HORTICULTURE.—We were indeed pleased to see so many ladies and gentlemen in attendance at the exhibition of the Horticultural Society yesterday morning. The display of fruits and flowers was not so large as we had hoped to see, though what there was, indeed, very fine. The bouquets were the most beautiful and variegated we have ever seen, and all sold at very fine prices. Local farmers were more liberal in their contributions on next Saturday.

MAD DOGS.—During the past week no less than twenty rabid dogs, which have bitten children in different portions of the city, have been killed. We have known that mad dogs have been running at large in the city for some time. We hope the canine race will be exterminated. Let the Mayor issue his proclamation.

FOURTH OF JULY.—This memorable day—the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence—is not far off. Cannot the civil and military authorities contribute something towards having a grand celebration on that day? Other cities will do so, why not ours?

The annual examination at the Louisvile Female College will commence on Monday, June 8th, and continue three days, commencing each day at 2 P. M. promptly.

S. PRETTMAN, President.

Dick Moore presented us, yesterday, with a plate of delicious strawberries, which were on exhibition at the meeting of the Horticultural Society. Dick has some more just like them.

JOINT PRINTING.

The Job Department in the Democratic Office is now ready for all kinds of printing— Bills, Circulars, Cards, Posters, &c., printed at the shortest possible notice, and at prices to suit the times.

Scott, Keen & Co., corner Sixth and Main streets, have just received a large and select stock of fine clothing and furnishing goods.

WOODLAWN RACES.—This splendid track has been put in the most complete order, and the spurs will commence on the 8th Inst. In former years Louisville had a deserved celebrity in the matter of racing, and the management, and in the location of the gentlemen to whose management it is now confined to make the attractions of the present season equal if not superior to those of the past days of the great race meet of this, it needs only to know that the department of refreshments will be under charge of Cawein & Co., of Walker's Exchange. The luxury of a cooling cobbler or an extra strong julep prepared by these celestials cannot fail to give to our visitors any mortification or defeat, will appropriately celebrate any victory of the turf.

The war of 1812, numerous persons young men—went away to escape being drafted into the army, who, when they returned after the war was over, were fined and imprisoned. So, young men, if you flee now you had better never return.

The work of enrollment is rapidly progressing in the several districts, and has so far been done peacefully and quietly. We have heard of no cases as yet where any man has refused to give the necessary information required of them by the enrolling clerks. Some of the young men in the city feel safe on the following grounds: "Three hundred dollars saves Jim, Tom says he's a lunatic, Bill says he's a confirmed drunkard, Joe says he's the only child of a widow," and a thousand other excuses that the boys expect to escape on.

WOODLAWN RACECOURSE.—We suppose that Woodlawn Racecourse will be a scene of glee and sport during the coming week. To-morrow the first race over the course will be made, and, as the races will be trotting and pacing, with a very liberal amount of betting, besides some of the finest stock in the United States participating in the fun, there will be a great deal of interest, as well as excitement on the occasion. The races will continue for five days. The cars on the Louisville and Lexington railroad will leave the depot at twelve o'clock m. and two p. m. for the racecourse. All the races which are to be made will be harness, and we expect to witness some extraordinary trotting and pacing during the week. A large crowd will be in daily attendance.

WOOLWICH RACECOURSE.—We suppose that Woolwich Racecourse will be a scene of glee and sport during the coming week. To-morrow the first race over the course will be made, and, as the races will be trotting and pacing, with a very liberal amount of betting, besides some of the finest stock in the United States participating in the fun, there will be a great deal of interest, as well as excitement on the occasion. The races will continue for five days. The cars on the Louisville and Lexington railroad will leave the depot at twelve o'clock m. and two p. m. for the racecourse.

WOMEN'S GOLDEN SPRINGS.—The attention of tobacco smokers is invited to this delightful article of natural-leaf light-prepared tobacco. Sold wholesale and retail at Warner's, 305 Jefferson street, near Third. Jct 2

CORSETS and hoop-skirts—best quality—large lot just received at J. Sue's.

Those in want of a desirable and well-made dress will find it at Warner's, 305 Jefferson street, near third, wholesale and retail. Jct 2

GLOMUL Shaker hoods, all sizes, at J. Sue's.

FINE black dress suits at Scott, Keen & Co., corner Sixth and Main streets, warranted equal to the best custom work.

WEBSALE MILINERY Goods—O. & Co., 510 Main street, between 6th and 7th, all sorts, will receive over fifty cases of ladies' hats this week. Part of the goods will arrive tomorrow morning, and the balances on Wednesday. We desire a complete list both white and black, trimming and untrimming. These added to their present stock of everything in the millinery line, will enable them to offer superlative improvements to milliners and merchants.

THE PANCAKE.—This popular old brand of Virginia chewing tobacco is having a great run. Sold at Warner's, 305 Jefferson street, near Third. Jct 2

GET THE BEST.—Rev. C. A. Buckbee, Treasurer American Bible Union, New York, writes:

"I very cheerfully add my testimony to that of numerous other friends to Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's His Restorer and Zylbowski. The latter is an excellent young artist in this line of art. We have seen very many which have been successfully painted by him, and in all cases they have been beautifully and artistically colored, which reflects much credit upon his good taste and display of genius."

DECASSED SOLDIERS.—The following is a list of deceased soldiers in general hospitals of this city during last week, ending Saturday, June 6th, 1863:

S M Brunner, co F, 12th Ky cav.

J F Brinkley, co F, 12th Inf.

John G Clark, co D, Morgan's cav (rebel)

Fred Schramm, co B, 14th Inf.

John W. Davis, co F, 12th Inf.

John G Dill, co F, 16th Inf.

Geo Smicer, co E, 16th Inf.

John W Nanny, co G, 16th Inf.

Mr. W. Wyatt buried seventy-two soldiers in the month of May.

WE stepped into the extensive photo-graph establishment of Brown & Co., on Fourth street yesterday, and found it crowded with the fair sex, who wished an imprint of their pretty faces transferred upon a card. We noticed several colored photographs which pleased us very much. They were painted by Mr. John S. Morton, of this city, who is an excellent young artist in this line of art. We have seen very many which have been successfully painted by him, and in all cases they have been beautifully and artistically colored, which reflects much credit upon his good taste and display of genius.

Mr. W. Wyatt buried seventy-two soldiers in the month of May.

A correspondent writes to us from Big Spring that Mr. Nathan Board, one of the oldest and most influential citizens of Breckinridge county, had died yesterday.

He was a man of great personal worth.

He died at his residence in the National Bank building, opposite the National.

He was about sixty years of age.

WE take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the popularity of the Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine. The falling attachment is acknowledged the most wonderful and useful of all inventions, while the prizes for the "beautier" of the month of June have been awarded to the manufacturers of these machines, which combine all the advantages of all other machines, and are far superior to any other.

They are to be had at the Franklin Manufacturing Company, 100 Fourth street, between Main and Water.

They are to be had at the Franklin Manufacturing Company, 100 Fourth street, between Main and Water.

WE take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the popularity of the Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine. The falling attachment is acknowledged the most wonderful and useful of all inventions, while the prizes for the "beautier" of the month of June have been awarded to the manufacturers of these machines, which combine all the advantages of all other machines, and are far superior to any other.
